File S-09037

Dear Mr. Green:

The Wisconsin Department of Financial Institutions, Division of Securities ("the Division"), is the state agency which regulates companies and persons who offer and sell securities to people in our state.

This letter serves to notify you that, after an investigation of the above matter, Division staff believes that securities were offered and sold to persons in Wisconsin, including you, in violation of the Wisconsin Uniform Securities Law, Chapter 551, Wis. Stats. As a result, the Division issued a summary administrative order that officially prohibits those persons involved from further violation of the securities laws, and notifies them that any future violations will expose them to potential criminal felony prosecution. A copy of the petition and administrative order(s) issued by the Division in this matter is on our website at http://www.wdfi.org/newsroom/admin_orders/dos_default.htm. Please note that the Division issued this order without the Respondent's consent; therefore, it will not become final for at least 30 days after issuance, during which time the Respondents have the right to request a hearing and ask that the hearing examiner vacate or modify the order. If no request for hearing is received by the Division within 30 days of service, the order becomes final by operation of law.

If securities are sold in violation of the Wisconsin securities laws, the purchasers may sue to recover the money paid for them, together with interest at the legal rate (currently 5% per year) and statutory attorney's fees (less any amount of income the investor received on the securities) upon tender of the securities. ("Tender" of a security requires only that you tell the seller you are willing to exchange the security for the amount specified). If you no longer own the security, you may sue for damages. However, the statute of limitations may strictly limit the amount of time after a transaction in which an investor can seek damages under the Wisconsin securities laws. (See § 551.509 (10), Wis. Stats.)
